

G. BRANCH MAY GET IT

Move Has Been Started to Make Him Speaker.

Jefferson City, Nov. 16—(Special.) A move has been started here to put Glover Branch of Lexington in the race for the speakership of the house of representatives. Branch is coming back for the third time, with the added credit of having carried a hard district. The next house will have so many new and so few old faces in it that there will be limited choice for the speaker. Speer of Osage and Branch of Lexington are expected to develop the most strength.—Kansas City Journal.

QUITE A DIFFERENT THING

Story Told by Senator Beveridge Illustrates Some People's Ideas of Morality.

Senator Beveridge, during a recent address in Boston, illustrated a moral idea with a story about a financier.

"Let me show you," he said, "what this financier's morality was like. An acquaintance noticed one day that he turned his head aside as a young millionaire was passing."

"What is the matter?" the acquaintance asked. "Don't you speak to young Curranisea any more? You used to do a lot of business with him."

"Indeed I don't speak to him," the financier shouted. "Hadn't he the audacity to say I swindled him out of $60,000?"

"Oh, dear, no, he didn't," the other objected. "He only said $10,000."

"Well, that's different. I've been misinformed," said the financier in a mollified tone; and turning he bowed to the young millionaire very graciously."

LACKAYE'S DESCRIPTION.

Wilton Lackaye, the player, whose caustic wit has furnished more than one good story, was at one time a member of a stock company in Chicago that made short trips through Indiana and Illinois in the spring.

Among the company was a young chap, the leading juvenile, who was a native of Evansville, Indiana, and it was largely due to his repeated pleadings that the manager consented to give one performance in that town.

On the company's return to Chicago some one asked Lackaye what sort of a reception the leading juvenile's townsmen had given him.

"He was," replied Lackaye, "greeted with round after round of silence."—Illustrated Sunday Magazine.

ABSENTMINDED TELEPHONE GIRL

"One of the first clients I had," remarked Irving C. Ackermann, "was a fellow that wanted a divorce."

"Well," I said, "what seems to be the trouble at your house?"

"Oh, we just naturally don't get along. She gets mad at me and threatens all the time to go home to her mother and I can't stand for some of the things she does. You see, she was a telephone girl, and every time I come home now and say, 'Hello, dearie,' she kind of absentminded-like sits staring out the window and says, 'Number? Number?' And that makes me wild."—San Francisco Chronicle.

BIRDS THAT BURY NUTS.

"Birds as well as squirrels bury nuts for winter use," said a teacher who is an amateur ornithologist. "I have watched jaybirds at work in oak trees in the fall very often, laying up stores for winter use."

"They were as busy as could be taking the nuts and burying them under the leaves on the ground. They seem to have instinct that leads them to find the nuts again. In fact, I have seen a jaybird fly down upon the ground and throwing the snow aside uncover and secure a buried apple core."

GENEROSITY.

"I suppose you feel that you have helped literature by establishing free libraries?"

"No," answered Mr. Dustin Stax, "it's a little rough on authors and publishers to put their work on the free list. But I felt I ought to do something for the public and that was the one product I could cheapen to the consumer without injury to myself or friends."—Washington Star.

IMPROVING.

Doctor—Madam, you needn't worry about your husband. He's improving every day.

Anxious Wife—What encouraging symptoms have you seen, doctor?

Doctor—Well, madam, he's already begun to kick about the size of the meals the hospital attendants serve him.—Detroit Free Press.

PHYSICAL PREPARATION.

"Wardley, is it true that you are thinking of running for congress?"

"Why, yes, Throstledyke; I expect to do some running, of course, to improve my wind, but just now I am taking lessons from a professor of boxing."

Rexall
"93" HAIR TONIC

Our faith in the superior remedial qualities of Rexall "93" Hair Tonic is so strong that we promise to return your money—without question or quibble—if it does not do what we claim it will.

Because it contains Resorcin, Beta Naphthol, Pilocarpin, Borax, Glycerin and Alcohol in perfect combination, Rexall "93" Hair Tonic provides the softening, cleansing, antiseptic, germicidal, stimulating and nourishing properties, so desirable and necessary for the successful treatment of scalp and hair troubles.

If used according to directions for a reasonable length of time, we are absolutely positive that it will thoroughly cleanse the scalp and hair, relieve irritation, eradicate dandruff, stimulate the hair follicles and papilla, revitalize and nourish the hair roots, stop falling hair, prevent baldness, promote hair growth and make the hair naturally soft and silky.

You must realize that we would not dare back up our claims with such a liberal offer unless we were positive that we can substantiate our statements in every particular, and the most skeptical person should at least be willing to try Rexall "93" Hair Tonic at our risk.
